Info on the Historic Yellowstone Trail

Before there were numbered highways in the U.S. there were names attached to roads to help motorists navigate from town to town or from county to county. The Yellowstone Trail in Wisconsin ran 406 miles from Kenosha to Hudson through 18 counties. Thanks in part to a small group of visionaries in four counties of Portage, Wood, Clark and Chippewa, in cooperation with the Wisconsin Department of Tourism; motorists can once again experience this storied piece of Wisconsin history. This brochure/map will entice you to re-trace this road, once well traveled you will see points of interest and unique vistas that have stood the test of time. A time when travelers enjoyed the journey as much as reaching their final destination.
